

ATTEMPTED MURDER AND SUICIDE

THOMAS F. CRUMP STABS WIFE AND CUTS HIS THROAT AT MCKINNEY

About 12 o'clock Saturday night the people residing a short distance South of McKinney were aroused from peaceful slumber by the agonized screams of a woman. Many hurried to the point from whence the screams came and were horrified to find Thomas F. Crump writhing in the death struggle with his throat cut and his wife bleeding from several knife thrusts inflicted by her husband.

Investigation showed that Crump had attacked his wife in their lonely cabin and after plunging a knife into her body several times, turned the weapon upon himself and slashed his throat from ear to ear, severing the jugular vein, causing him to bleed to death in few moments. Physicians were hastily summoned and after an examination of Mrs. Crump's wounds, stated that the chances were favorable for her recovery.

Crump and his wife moved to the McKinney section from Casey county some time ago and the former was engaged in raising a tobacco crop on the farm of K. L. Turner. But little is known of him and no one seems able to advance a reasonable theory for his rash deed. He was about 60 years of age and his remains were interred in the cemetery at McKinney yesterday afternoon.

Big Fish

CAUGHT BY HUGH LOGAN NEAR WHITE'S MILL.

Mr. Hugh Logan, of Crab Orchard, while fishing in Dix river near White's mill, last week caught a fish which is so far as is known the largest ever taken from that historic stream. He had baited his hook with a good sized minnow and when his cork disappeared beneath the water he made a gentle pull on his line, but to his surprise the cork remained under. Mr. Logan put a little more power behind his next effort and to his astonishment pulled out a channel cat that weighed 15 pounds and measured 33 inches from mouth to tail. The fish had completely swallowed the bait on Mr. Logan's hook although it was of the perch variety and about five inches long.

Mob Talk

HEARD WHEN NEGRO STABBED WHITE MEN AT MORELAND

Dick Lee, a bad colored man, stabbed two white men, Emmett Neikirk and Huston Acre at Moreland last Friday, and for a while there was talk among the friends of the two men of making an effort to storm the jail here that night and lynch the negro. Cooler heads prevailed, however, and nothing was done.

The two white men are from the Green River section in Casey. It is said that they came to Moreland and sought work loading lumber, much of which had been done by the negroes. Lee became angry, it is said, and "went after" the white men with a large knife when they resented his remarks to them.

Sheriff W. L. McCarty arrested Lee who was brought to jail here. He is said to have a bad reputation and to have wielded his ready knife on previous occasions.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY

We have for sale at a bargain a splendid business in Stanford. Owner has a good reason for going out of business. This is a money making proposition for the right man.

Also come to see a fine farm of 200 acres in Garrard county right on pike, right at railroad station, fine improvements, first class land price $130 per acre. Write us for catalogue of other farms in Lincoln and Garrard counties.

HUGHES & SWINEBROOK, The Real Estate Men, Lancaster.

When the digestion is all right the action of the bowels regular, there is a natural craving and relish for food. When this is lacking you may know that you need a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They strengthen the digestive organs, improve the appetite and regulate the bowels. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

COX BITTERLY SCORED BY AUDITOR JAMES

FOR WALKER APPOINTMENT—MR. McROBERTS DECLARED HIMSELF OUT IT UNDER CIRCUMSTANCES.

The appointment of Lewis W. Walker of Garrard, as Circuit Judge of this judicial district, has certainly stirred up the animals in some quarters. State Auditor Frank P. James, who was anxious to have Hon. Peter M. McRoberts, of this city, appointed, gave out an interview to the reporters for the city papers at Frankfort in which he bitterly scored Acting Governor Cox for the appointment of Walker.

It develops that Mr. McRoberts declared himself out of the race early Friday morning, when he learned from friends here who had been to see Gov. Cox in his behalf, that the fact that he had refused to go to London with Taylor's legislature in 1889 during the exciting times of the Grover contest, was being held against him. Mr. McRoberts called up Auditor James and told him that if that fact was being considered by the Acting Governor in the appointment of a man for such a judicial position, he distinctly wanted it understood that he was not to be considered an applicant; that he had simply done what he believed to be right and his duty as a legislator, and would do it again, if such condition should arise and he were a member of the legislature again. Mr. McRoberts did not mince words in making his position understood in the premises, and he told Auditor James to tell the Acting Governor just how he felt about it. A short while after he had talked with the Auditor, Gov. Cox announced the appointment of Walker as Judge.

Auditor James seems to have felt very strong about the matter, himself, and gave vent to his feeling in his interview, in which he declares that although he has hitherto favored Cox for Governor, he is now against him unqualifiedly. The Cincinnati Enquirer had its story of the attack Saturday under a Frankfort date line.

The Enquirer Story.

"Acting Gov. William H. Cox, of Maysville, is a small potato, and a very small one at that," said State Auditor Frank P. James, of Harrodsburg, when he returned from Lexington to-night and learned that Acting Gov. Cox had appointed Lewis L. Walker, of Lancaster, circuit judge of the Thirteenth judicial district, comprising Mercer, Boyle, Lincoln and Garrard counties.

"Cox told me he would not make the appointment," said James, "and when I had a conversation with him this morning, from what he said and the letters he read me I was left under the impression that he would not appoint Walker, even if he did make an appointment."

"It is my judgment that Cox made the appointment to please Senator W. O. Bradley, of Louisville, and to secure his influence and his support in event he seeks the republican nomination for governor. Walker is a great friend of Bradley, and Bradley urged his appointment. I think that the appointment was made by Cox from purely selfish political purposes, and I know it will do Cox more harm than good."

"The people of the State owe him a debt of gratitude, however, for in my judgment it makes plain his position on the liquor question; the cloak is thrown off, and it seems to me that Cox is lined up with the liquor people. He will not be able to fool them if he ever runs for office again."

"He knows all about Walker, for I told him. Cox read me a letter this morning in which the information was conveyed him that Walker had been an applicant for United States District Attorney for the Eastern District of Kentucky, and that Bradley withdrew his application because President Taft told him that he would not appoint Walker."

How can an acting governor assume to appoint a man as Circuit Judge whom the President of the United States would not appoint as District Attorney.

Garrard county is from 250 to 300 Republican, and it goes democratic year after year with Walker as the Republican leader. I told Cox all this and other things and that is the reason why he told me that he would not make any appointments until he first consulted me. There were plenty of good men in the district.

Cox said he objected to Peter McRoberts, of Stanford, because he would not go to London when Gov. Taylor ordered the Legislature there, and that was his only reason. Cox might have appointed McRoberts, T. H. Hardin, H. F. Roach, J. T. Wilson, T. T. Quisenberry, William Herndon or others, but he appointed Walker for Bradley's influence. Such a man is not fit for governor. I had told Cox I was for him, but now I am against him for any office, for it he should be nominated and elected Governor, Bradley would be Governor of the State, and the whisky ring would control. In my judgment the appointment of Walker is a slap at the Thirteenth Judicial District and that Cox knew it when he made the appointment."

THE NEW CIRCUIT JUDGE.

JUDGE LEWIS L. WALKER.

James was in Lexington to-day, and Cox left for Louisville on the train on which James came to town.

Hays Foster

GOES WITH NEW BANK AS ASSISTANT CASHIER

Hays Foster, one of the best known and most popular young men in the city, has accepted the position of assistant cashier of the new State Bank and Trust Company, which will open for business here next month. Mr. Foster has been bookkeeper for the Lincoln County National Bank for several years and is well qualified for the responsible place he will take. He is a son of John B. Foster, one of the most prominent farmers of Lincoln county.

The formal opening of the new financial institution has been set for Sept. 24, a week or so later than was at first planned, but this postponement has been made necessary by inability to get the concrete work on the vault, flooring etc. finished in time. The banking room in the Odd Fellows' building is going to be one of the handsomest in the state when completed.

DANDRUFF AND ITCHING SCALP YIELD TO THIS TREATMENT

Why experiment trying to drive the dandruff germ from underneath the skin with greasy lotions or fancy hair dressings when Penny's Drug store will guarantee ZEMO and ZEMO soap to entirely rid the scalp of the germ life that causes the trouble.

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP can be obtained in any city or town in America and are recognized the best and most economical treatment for all affections of the skin or scalp whether on infant or grown person. One shampoo with ZEMO SOAP and application of ZEMO will stop itching and cleanse the scalp of dandruff and scurf.

We invite you to try ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP and it not entirely satisfied we will refund your money. Penny's Drug Store.

In buying a cough medicine, don't Remedy. There is no danger from it, be afraid to go Chamberlain's cough and relief is sure to follow. Especially recommended for coughs, colds and whooping cough. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

SOMERSET FAIR.

Aug. 30-31, Sept. 1-2. Round trip tickets via Queen & Crescent Route will be sold Aug. 30, 31, Sept. 1 and 2, good returning until Sept. 3, 1910. The round trip rate from Junction City to Somerset for this occasion is $1.45.

BAD MAN IS CAUGHT AGAIN IN GARRARD

JOHN GRIMES FINALLY RUN TO EARTH BY OFFICER—LIVE NEWS OF LANCASTER

Lancaster, Aug. 30. John Grimes, who was captured in the Kentucky river cliffs some time ago, and afterwards made his escape from the officers by jumping through the car window while they were taking him to Versailles where he is wanted on a charge of criminal assault, was recaptured today by Sheriff C. A. Robinson and lodged in jail here. Sheriff Robinson has kept him on him for five or six months, running him down in northeast Garrard.

Elder Platt, of McKinney, preached at the Christian church Sunday morning.

Mrs. Wm. R. Cook entertained at cards in honor of her visitor, Mrs. Ernest Sprague, of Louisville.

An infant of Mr and Mrs. Ed Perkins, of this county, died on Saturday and the remains were interred in the Lancaster cemetery Sunday.

The ladies of the local W. C. T. U. realized something over $18 by the ice cream supper they held Saturday.

Miss Adams entertained on Thursday her young niece, Miss Lottie Carson, of Stanford.

Major William Collier, formerly of Lancaster, and a son of the late General Collier, has been notified of his promotion to the position of Revenue Agent with headquarters in Louisville. He will receive an increase in salary from $1,500 to $3,500 a year.

H. K. Herndon has bought the lot of John W. Miller on Danville known as the old Franklin Institute. Mr. Herndon will erect a residence on the site and again become a Lancaster citizen.

Next Sunday will be observed as Church Extension Day at the Christian church and a contribution will be taken. Elder Tindler will fill his pulpit on Sunday.

Mr. R. Zimmer was called to Baden, Germany, by the illness and death of his father, Mr. Carl Zimmer. The deceased was 87 years old and died of the infirmities of age.

Mrs. Ed Price entertained with a sumptuous dining in honor of Mrs. W. N. Mabry, of Tallahassee, Fla., and Miss Washburn, of Louisville.

Parksville

Mr. C. C. Reynoldson and wife, of Lebanon visited the latter's sister, Mrs. J. J. Cozatt, over Sunday. Miss Ethel Cleland has returned from a visit to relatives in Louisville and Kansas City. Mr. W. C. Pittman, of London, worked two days for F. E. Westerfield at Cozatt last week, while Mr. Westerfield attended the Perryville fair. Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wilson have gone to visit friends at Lebanon Junction, Shelbyville and Frankfort.

Mr. Joseph Cox of Gravel Switch, was a visitor here Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Grandison Glosscock, of Danville, visited the latter's mother, Mrs. N. A. Vanarsdall, last week. Mr. J. W. Irvine, of Knoxville, who has been the guest of Mrs. J. N. Tarkington, is visiting friends at Springfield. Miss Lucy E. Hankle, of Junction City is the guest of Miss Ella Blanford. Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Murphy of Springfield, Ill., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otho B. Murphy. Mr. Henry O. Cozatt left Monday for Bradfordville where he joined a crowd of friends who are starting on a fishing trip to the waters of the North Rolling Fork.

Mr. Samuel King, of Birmingham, Ala., visited his sister Miss Georgia King, at Mrs. R. N. Pittman's last week. Mr. and Mrs. Pleasant Tucker are visiting relatives and friends at Fort Worth, Texas and Oklahoma. Prof. James B. Bolling and family have gone to Vanceburg, where he has charge of the city schools. Mr. C. M. Graves, of Birmingham, is a guest of Mrs. R. M. Pittman. Hon. John W. Rawlings, of Danville, was in Parksville on law business. While here he told your correspondent that it was very probable that he would be a candidate for the nomination for Circuit Judge two years hence.

CAN YOU BEAT THIS?

The Winchester Democrat has this: J. E. Stepp a fisherman living near Boonesboro, caught Monday a catfish which weighed fifty-one pounds. It was four feet long and almost a foot across the jaws. He tied it to the boat which the fish overturned and Mr. Stepp had to swim ashore.

All who believe it will please send the I. J., a dollar for a year's subscription.

COSBY FAMILY HOLD BIG REUNION HERE

NUMEROUS KITH AND KIN OF KINDLY CLAN IN JOYOUS GATHERING

The annual reunion of the family of Nicholas Cosby and Margaret Cosby, both deceased was held last Wednesday in this county at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, near Turnersville. All of the immediate family by prearrangement gathered there from their homes in Ohio and various points in Kentucky and answered present at roll call. There are nine children and members of this family living, only one, Mattie Alford Cosby having died, and she died in early infancy. Most of the family were born and all of them were raised in Lincoln county Kentucky. They are all however located elsewhere now except Mrs. W. T. Tucker, and Mrs. T. J. Hill. This family has grown until it is a very large one and all but a very few had gathered for the occasion. The many present crowded the full day with open air pleasures and enjoyed a fresh the quaint and unpretentious reminiscences linked with the traditions of this family. It was truly a day of pleasure and complete reunion for the family. All things seemingly held in common as it were the cares, burdens and duties of life were cast aside for a day, and pleasure, contentment and congeniality were supreme with all. A substantial repast spread bountifully upon a steady table of temporary build under the shadow of the pines and locusts in the yard afforded the great pleasure to the large assembly. This sight appeared at its best about 1 o'clock P. M. at which time all being blessed with light hearts and light stomachs, were unceremoniously presented to this far famed idol of all, thus conditioned, and blessed; suffice to say, justice was done by all, to this feature of the program.

In the afternoon, shortly before the fifteenth of separation had arrived Eld. B. F. Cosby summoned all present to gather under the shade of the trees for devotional services, and here an hour was spent in reading and expounding the scriptures, and in prayer.

The immediate family all of whom were present consists of Eugene C. Cosby, of Junction City, Nellie Cosby Hill, Ira Cosby Tucker, Maggie Cosby Kelley, of Dayton, O., James D. Cosby, of Covington Ky., Eld. Benjamin F. Cosby, of Butler, Ky., Minnie Cosby Bernard, of Dayton, O., Jennie Cosby Wolf, of Danville, and John I. Cosby of Cincinnati, O. Others present were T. J. Hill the husband of Nellie Cosby Hill, W. T. Tucker, the husband of Ira Cosby Tucker, Myrtle McDonald Cosby, the wife of John I. Cosby, Mrs. Elizabeth Cosby Hill of Danville Ky., a sister of Nicholas Cosby deceased, Mrs. Ellen B. Green of McKinney, a sister-in-law of Margaret Cosby, deceased, Miss Effie Drye, of McKinney a niece of Mrs. Ellen B. Green, and the following grandchildren: A. C. Hill and wife Nellie Mer-shon Hill, T. J. Hill, Jr., Frank Lee Hill Wm. Harry Hill and wife Kate Pence Hill, Leslie Thomas Tucker, and wife Margaret Holmes Tucker, Rachel Kelley Ballou, Mildred Cosby Besse Miller Hill, Jno. Miller Hill, Joe Wolf Hill, Joe Hammond Wolfe, Itam-ace Tucker, Nellie Wilson Hill, Mor-ace Tucker, Sarah Margaret Kelley, Bretna Cosby, Rachel Tevis Hill, Stewart Bernard, Jr., Robert Bernard, Chas. Bernard, James Cosby, Jr., Paul Cosby, Nicholas Cosby, Jr., John Wilson Cosby, and the following great grandchildren, Guy Shipman Ballou, Myrtle Tucker, and Grady Tucker. Aunt Sallie Shipman late of Hustonville has heretofore been present at all of the previous reunions held by this family, and her absence this time due to her recent death was generally deplored and regretted by all present.

THE BEST OFFER EVER MADE

Homa and farm one full year, regular price. 50c
Uncle Remus Homa Magazine, regular price. $1.00
Good Housekeeper full year, regular price 1.50
The Evening Post, daily, 3 months. $1.25
The Interior Journal your home paper full year. $1.00

Here you have a value of $5.25. All for $2.00 for a short time only. Send or bring your order in at once to The Interior Journal, Stanford, Ky. This offer is not good where the Evening Post has an agent.

Complete Dispersal Sale

Of The Finest Herd of Mules And Brood Mares In Central Kentucky!

130 --- MULES AND BROOD MARES --- 130

Having Sold My Home Farm And Deciding to Change My Business, I Will Sell Publicly On

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 7th '10,

Beginning at 9 o'clock a. m. Sharp, at my Home Farm, one-half mile South of the Railroad Station, on Somerset street, Stanford, Ky., the following property, to-wit:

ONE JACK, NAMED SAMSON,

Six Years Old, sired by Bill Goebel; he by the great Joe Blackburn, that sold for $1,825. Samson is the CHAMPION MULE JACK OF KENTUCKY, his colts having won more premiums at the Kentucky State Fair, the Blue Grass Fair and several Central Kentucky Fairs in '08 and '09 than any other jack's colts; as well as at the Lancaster, Danville, Harrodsburg, Lexington, Lawrenceburg and Perryville Fairs, this year, the only fairs at which they have been shown to date. This Jack Will be Sold at 1 o'clock SHARP!

70 MULES! 70

Twenty Colts, half of them Mares, -16 Yearlings; half of them Mares; 20 two-year-olds; half of them Mares. Nearly all broken to work, including Six Pairs, Well Mated, Fourteen Mules, from 3 to 8 years old, including one pair Premium Horse Mules that weigh 3,000 lbs. Twenty of the above are show mules. I Have Won 175 Premiums in '08, '09 and '10 to date, which is more than any other breeder or dealer in this State can say. All the mules I won the premiums on, except three, I sold last fall, are in this Sale.

60 BROOD MARES Bred to Jacks, Forty to My Great Mule Jack, Samson. 60

3 2-YEAR-OLDS; 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT ABOUT 1,100 LBS.
6 4-YEAR-OLDS; 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,200 LBS.
20 5-YEAR-OLDS; 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,400 LBS.
10 6-YEAR-OLDS; 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,500 LBS.
11 7 & 10-YEAR-OLDS; 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,600 LBS.
10 SMOOTH MOUTHED; 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT STOCK; WEIGHT FROM 1,100 TO 1,600 LBS.

MOST OF THESE MARES ARE WELL BROKEN TO WORK ANYWHERE; AND ABOUT ONE-HALF HAVE COLTS THIS YEAR THAT WILL BE SOLD AT THIS SALE; AND THE OTHERS WERE BOUGHT IN THE SPRING IN INDIANA, ILLINOIS AND MISSOURI.

DON'T YOU NEED A FEW BROOD MARES? THERE IS NO STOCK ON THE FARM THAT WILL PAY BETTER THAN A FEW GOOD MARES THAT WILL RAISE $85 TO $125 MULE COLTS. THAT'S WHAT THEY ARE BRINGING IN KENTUCKY TODAY AND THERE HAS NEVER BEEN SUCH A DEMAND. THE BEST COLTS ARE OUT OF MARES WITH FROM 1-4 TO 1-2 DRAFT BLOOD. THEY HAVE BETTER BONE AND WEIGHT AND 90 PER CENT OF THE SHOW MULES ARE OUT OF SUCH MARES.

SIX CHOICE SHETLAND PONIES.

A FEW FARMING IMPLEMENTS; HOUSEHOLD AND KITCHEN FURNITURE, INCLUDING SOME

HANDSOME ANTIQUE FURNITURE.

THIS WILL BE AN ABSOLUTE CLOSING OUT SALE OF MY MULES, BROODMARES, ETC.

I WILL HAVE CONVEYANCES MEET ALL TRAINS ON SALE DAY. DINNER WILL BE SERVED AT THE HOUSE TO ALL.

TERMS—All sums of $10 and under, cash in hand; over $10 a credit of 6 months with 6 per cent interest from date of sale; purchaser giving a bankable note.

AUCTIONEERS—J. M. DUNN and T. D. ENGLISH.

J. H. Baughman,
Stanford, Ky.

Hon. W. H. Shanks will have his big closing out sale of mules, mares, etc., at Stanford, Sept. 8.

BIG SALE!

I will offer for sale at auction at my farm between the Crab Orchard and Somerset turnpikes, one mile from Rowland and two miles from Stanford on

Tuesday, September 6, 1910,
78 Head of Mules, Horses, Jacks & jennets

- 1 Mature Jack; good breeder.
- 2 Yearling Jacks; good size and well marked and well bred.
- 10 Jennets of good breeding and in foal to good jacks.
- 1 Suckling horse colt out of a Pence mare and by The Warfield.
- 1 Suckling horse colt out of Golddust mare and by Ashland Brook.
- 1 Short yearling horse colt out of draft mare by a son of Pence.
- 1 Yearling horse colt out of trotting-bred mare by Beau Naboth.
- 1 Yearling horse colt out of trotting-bred mare by George Hur.
- 1 Yearling horse colt out of draft mare by thoroughbred stallion.
- 1 Yearling filly out of draft mare by a son of Gambetta Wilkes.
- 1 Yearling filly out of Preston mare by Beau Naboth.
- 1 Yearling filly out of Dorsey Golddust mare by Ashland Brook.
- 1 Yearling filly out of thoroughbred mare by Chester Peavine.
- 1 Yearling filly out of Marion Squirrel mare by Chester Peavine.
- 1 two-year-old trotting bred mare by Beau Naboth.

MULES.

- 1 Suckling mare mule colt.
- 8 Yearling mules.
- 38 two-year-old mules.
- 5 three-year-old mules.
- 1 four-year-old mule.

CATTLE.

If not sold before I will also offer 40 good 1,100-pound feeders, 20 good 900-pound feeders and 20 head other cattle of different weight.

HOGS.

10 fine brood sows, bred to farrow the last of September.

TERMS---$10 and under, cash in hand. Over $10, cash or a good note, due in six months, bearing 6 per cent. interest.

Sale will be held rain or shine. Dinner served on the grounds.

Col. J. P. Chandler, Auctioneer.

W. H. SHANKS,

Stanford, Ky.

J. H. Baughman will have his closing out sale of brood mares, mules, Etc., Wednesday, Sept. 7.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL.

Established 1872

EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY
At $1 Per Year in Advance.

SHELTON SAUFLEY.....Publisher

Entered at the Post Office at Stanford, Ky., as Second Class mail.

We wonder what our friends in the Republican party who believe in temperance, and who stand for a non-partisan judiciary, think of their party leader, Acting Gov. Cox since he appointed a circuit judge for this district. The situation certainly invited their attention. Look at it.

The name of Hon. P. M. McRoberts was presented to Cox for his consideration in filling his vacancy. Mr. McRoberts is a lawyer eminently qualified for the judgeship. Even those who opposed him cannot truthfully deny this. Furthermore, he is the recognized leader of the temperance forces in this section—a man that not only preaches temperance but whose daily life proclaims his devotion to that cause. He is also a life-long republican—belonging to that almost extinct class who are republicans from principle, and not from a desire to merely satisfy an insatiable hunger for office. Yet Cox refused to appoint such a man to the judicial vacancy. What was the reason for this refusal? Cox told Auditor Frank James that he objected to McRoberts because he declined to follow the republican members of the legislature to London, when Taylor attempted to adjourn the legislature to that place, McRoberts being then a member of the legislature. If this be true, the Lieutenant Governor's conception of what constitutes fitness for the judiciary is this: That a judge must be one who is ready, at any and all times, to obey implicitly every mandate of a party leader, no matter from what whim or caprice it may spring or how violative of rights established by the organic law of the people. His ideal of a judge is strikingly illustrated in the notorious Jeffreys who once graced and disgraced the English bench.

Auditor James who has long known Cox intimately, declares, however, that the true reason for Cox ignoring Mr. McRoberts is because Cox is a creature of the brewers, and that he did what he did at their behest, that he, in return for not appointing Mr. McRoberts is to receive the support of the brewers in his gubernatorial aspirations.

Judge therefore at any angle you please, Cox's action has discredited him with the temperance people in his own party, and has shown him to be devoid of every element, in his public relations, that rises above the pettiest sort of partisanship.

The reply of Gov. Cox to the caustic statement of Mr. James is rather weak. He says:

I am willing to take all the responsibility for the appointment of Judge Walker. This man is able to stand on his own bottom. I appointed Judge Walker because of his legal attainments and because I believe him better qualified for the position than any of the applicants. Mr. James wanted me to appoint Mr. McRoberts and he knew before he went to Lexington Friday morning that I was going to appoint Judge Walker. Mr. James and I are not going to fall out over the appointment of a judge. I believe him to be a broad-minded man.

WITH LIFE AND POLICY SAVED.

You can make a new start after the fire. Without the policy what a hopeless and dreary outlook would be yours. Don't risk it. Have us insure you today so that if fire come tonight as it may, you will not wake up tomorrow a ruined man.

Fish & Pennington,

Stanford, Ky., Phone 200

ed and water best covered pens, outside of Louisville or Lexington.
STANFORD, KY. We also do a general hitch and feed business.

He has a perfect right to support any man for governor he chooses. I shall not fall out with him over that. That is all I have to say about the matter.

The republican committee of the seventh congressional district met at Frankfort Saturday and after a conference unanimously agreed to nominate M. C. Rankin, of Henry county for Congress, to oppose J. Campbell Cantrill, the democratic nominee and incumbent. The nomination was unanimous, and Rankin accepted the honor. He is the present State Commissioner of Agriculture and a mighty clever, good man, but of course the nomination is an empty honor as the Ashland district is strongly democratic.

Mayor Gaynor of New York is almost well of the bullet wound. It is said that he can have the nomination for governor of New York, if he wants it. The next democratic presidential nominee is going to be either Gaynor or Harmon, and it looks like the former would prove the stronger candidate.

Wonder if Col. Ewell, the republican candidate for congress in this district will vote for Cannon for Speaker, if he should happen to be elected. The district convention endorsed the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill, which Cannon helped put over. How about the Speaker, Col. Ewell; are you for or against him for re-election?

Richest People

ARE OSAGE INDIANS, WHO HAVE $20,000 EACH.

Testimony was given before the congressional committee investigating Indian affairs in Oklahoma that each of the 2,300 Osage Indians is worth $20,000, which on a per capita basis, constitute them the richest people in the world.

As their property is held in restriction by the government, the Indians have used a great many lawyers. It was stated. One attorney testified he represented 23 claimants, who demanded that the government place them on the Osage rolls, thus giving them the right to twenty thousand dollars worth of property. The wealth of these claimants, if they are successful, would amount to four hundred and sixty thousand dollars.

Another attorney testified he had been employed to oppose the claims on the ground that if allowed they would decrease the wealth of the tribe. Attorneys fees are paid to keep the Indians off the rolls and fees were paid for putting them on.

Wanted—Cosmopolitan Magazine requires the services of a representative in Stanford to look after subscription renewals and to extend circulation by special methods which have proved unusually successful. Salary and commission. Previous experience desirable but not essential. Whole time or spare time. Address with references, H. C. Campbell, Cosmopolitan Magazine, 1789 Broadway, New York City. 53-2

While fleeing from bumblebees, Ben Springate fell on a scythe which he was carrying and cut off his knee cap. He came near bleeding to death before help reached him and is now in a critical condition.

YOU CAN BUY

Your coal cheaper right now than any time in the year.

Let us fill your bins with our FOX
RIDGE COAL at 13
cts per bushel.

Clean Coal;
No Slack.
Phone 11.

J. H. Baughman & Co.

If you have anything to sell
in the

STOCK LINE

—Take to—

Nunneley's New Stock Yards

He buys and sells every day in the year except Sunday. Bring on your stock. Best market in the State with plenty of

See What They Have Done

RECORD OF MULES J. H. BAUGHMAN.
MAN WILL SELL SEPT. 7.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 27.

This is to certify that J. H. Baughman, of Stanford, Ky., was awarded the largest amount of premiums of any exhibitor in the mule department at the Kentucky State Fair of 1909, and that he was also the largest prize winning exhibitor in the mule department at the 1908 Kentucky State Fair.

J. W. Newman, Sec'y
Lexington, Ky., Aug. 26 1910

To whom it may concern:
This is to certify that Mr. J. H. Baughman of Stanford, Ky., has won the largest amount of money won by any exhibitor in the department for mules at the Blue Grass for three consecutive years, 1908, 1909, 1910. As the mule show at the Blue Grass fair is one of the very best, if not the best, in the entire world, this feat on the part of Mr. Baughman is particularly remarkable. This notice is given with pleasure as a testimonial of the excellency of his stock.

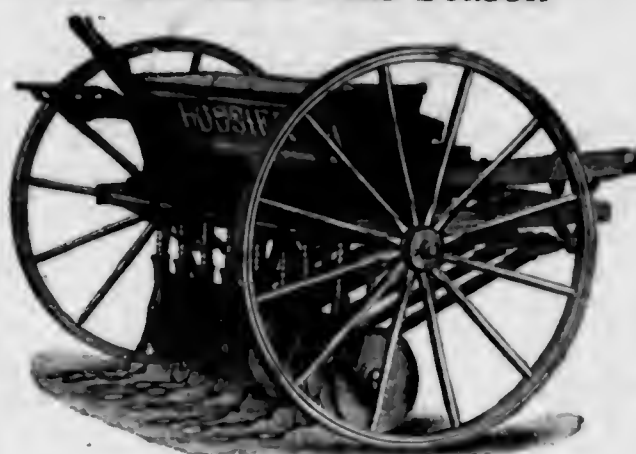

Signed J. W. Newman, Secretary.

Fall And Winter Suitings

My new fall and winter samples are now ready for your inspection. They comprise the best on the market. I can suit any one as to price who has his clothes made to order. A suit made to your measure is preferable to ready made clothes. To have them made to measure doesn't cost any more than ready made when quality and fit is considered. Come in and let me take your measure.
H. C. Itupley, the Practical Tailor.

- OHIO VALLEY EXPOSITION, Cincinnati, O.
- Queen & Crescent Route.
- Round Trip Fares From Junction City Kentucky
- TICKETS ON SALE DAILY
- $4.40 Good returning five days From Date of Sale.
- $5.60 Good Returning until Sept. 29th.
- F. G. DENNIS, Ticket Agent, Junction City Ky.

We Have This Season

The Hoosier Drill

With All the Latest Improvements

We can make it to your interest to pay us a call.

FARMERS—Read This if You Have Sheep.

More Wool—More
Lambs—More Profit
That's where profits are in sheep raising, but you cannot get the big profits unless you keep your animals free from worms.

SAL-VET

will positively clean out the worms, not only in your sheep, but in every other animal on your place. This wonder-working remedy will destroy and expel every last worm, leaving the animal free to digest and assimilate every ounce of food it eats. Sal-Vet is a wonderful tonic and conditioner. It costs but 1-12 of a cent a day per head to feed.

Sal-Vet is manufactured by the S. R. Fell Company, Cleveland, O.

Sal-Vet is sold by

Stook Repays
Care

The care you give stock, especially in feeding, is returned to you ten fold in good hard cash. Keep your Horses, Cows, Sheep and Hogs in good condition and free from worms by feeding

SAL-VET

This wonder-working medicated salt is easy to feed and costs but little. It puts the animals' stomachs and intestines in perfect condition, so that every particle of food is digested and assimilated. Sal-Vet does its work quickly and positively. A 10-pound package for 75 cents. It is manufactured by S. R. Fell Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

Pence Bros., Stanford, Kentucky

The LONGWORTHEderheimer, Stein & Co.
MAKERS

A few more days and you will be looking for that new Fall suit; and we just want to remind you that we are ready for you, with a beautiful lot to select from. Of course you know that BROWNS are the thing this time, with blue serges and blacks always good.

Our prices range from $10 to $30 and as good tailoring as a needle and machine will make.

H. J. McRoberts.

G. L. Penny

R. H. Coffey

E. R. Coleman

Ice Cream Soda Water
Phosphates
Grape Juice

And a Large List of Genuine
Thirst Quenchers At PENNY'S DRUG STORE,

Stanford, Kentucky.

J. L. Beazley & Co., W. A. TRIBBLE,

Furniture and Undertaking.

Day Phone 28.

Night Phone 133.

Stanford, Kentucky.

CONCRETING

We are in position to do all kinds of concreting, such as Block Work, Pavements and, in fact, we can make any thing from a house down to a fence post. We can serve you promptly and guarantee first-class work and material. Call and get our prices before you buy your material at least.

PHILLIPS BROS.,
Stanford, Ky.

When Hungry

GO TO

Carson's Restaurant Lancaster, Street
Stanford, Ky.
Meals served at all hours up to 11:30 p. m.
Best place to go for a good quick meal.

Looking to suit our customers our specialty splendid new line of fancy
Groceries,
Hot Coffee, Sandwiches, pies, Butter milk,
and sweet milk, etc., at all times.

W. A. CARSON, Prop.

Undertakers and Embalmers Also Dealers in Furniture, Mattings, Rugs. They will exchange Furniture for all kinds of Stock. Give Them a Call. Prices Right.

STANFORD, - KENTUCKY

Harry Jacobs,

Dealer in and Manufacturer of
Marble and Granite Monuments,

Markers and Posts, Cemetery and Low Vases and Bells, Office and works, Main Street, Ky.

OHIO VALLEY EXPOSITION

Aug. 29—Sept. 24, 1910.

A magnificent parade will take place to pass a given point will mark the opening of the Ohio Valley Exposition, Aug. 29th 1910. Special low rates to Cincinnati, O., via the Q. & C. route have been placed in effect. Ask ticket agent for particulars. W. A. Beckler, General Passenger Agent, Cincinnati, O.

Buying Goods

Our buyer is in the market this week looking for and buying the very best the market affords.

By the 15th of September we will have an excellent assortment of the lines we carry.

Dry Goods, Shoes, Skirts, Suits, Cloaks, Underwear, Blankets, Etc.

You Go Out Of Here

Feeling that we value your patronage, be it large or small.

Our every effort is to assure you that no where else will you get such a square deal as you get at this store; and at no other store could you have spent your money to better advantage.

Begin to plan now to make an early Fall visit to our store to see the new goods and learn the reasonableness of our prices.

SEVERANCE & SON, Stanford, Kentucky.

There is a new line of 25c box papers, special values at Penny's Drug Store.

PERSONALS

Sam Magee is quite ill at his home in Crab Orchard.

Henry Catron has been visiting W. F. Dellord and family at Level Green.

Prof. W. O. Hopper returned on Monday to Mt. Sterling to again take up his work as Superintendent of city schools.

Mrs. Kate F. Middleton, of Harrodsburg, is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Farris on East Main Street before returning to Seattle, Wash. Before returning to Kentucky Mrs. Middleton will visit California and a number of other States. She will be absent two months.—Danville Advocate.

Miss Laura Carpenter has returned home, having been in a house party with Miss Anna Caswell Previtt at Mt. Sterling.

Turner Carpenter is convalescent from an attack of typhoid fever.

Mrs. Walter Vanarsdall, of Danville, is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Campbell at Hustonville.

Miss Nancy Yeager will go to Lebanon today to visit friends for a few days.

Miss Virginia Wright who has been the guest of friends here for some time, returned to her home near Danville yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Young and son Clarence, of Newon, Ky., visited their father Mr. J. S. Young last week. Mr. and Mrs. Young left here to visit friends at Pittsburg and London.

Miss Edith Martin has returned home from an extended visit to Fort Wayne, Ind. Her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Barnes accompanied her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Adams and children have leased the home of Mrs. A. C. Van Winkle on the south side and will take possession of same the first of September. Mrs. Van Winkle, son and daughter are expecting to board on Shelby street for the winter.—Frankfort News.

Mrs. Ann Lytle Bosley, of Hustonville, is visiting her children Mrs. Angie and Prof. L. C. Bosley in Danville. Miss Hattie Rice is the guest of friends in Lincoln county for a few days. Mr. Boyd Weatherford is spending a few days with his parents in Hustonville.—Danville Messenger.

Miss Mary D. Kennedy will leave Thursday for Macon, Ga., to spend some time with her sister. Before returning she will visit the family of Mr. E. C. Walton, at Atlanta.

Mrs. Hattie Melvin, of Danville, is the guest of Mrs. J. W. Ireland.

Mrs. C. Fowler is visiting friends in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. William Yeager and family have moved to their home on Danville Street which they recently bought and Mr. and Mrs. Greenberry Bright have taken the house they vacated.

Mrs. Newman Birk and attractive children returned to their home in Owensboro, after a visit to her brother Messrs. J. W. and H. C. Haughman here.

Misses Aunette and Sadie Wearen have returned from a visit to Mrs. Howard Umertburg in Louisville.

Mr. Sam Robinson is ill at his home and typhoid fever is feared.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Herndon, of Lancaster were guests of Mrs. J. C. Hays on Sunday.

Tom W. Gooch of the West End has returned home after a pleasant visit to relatives in Kansas City. His cousin Mr. Thomas Gooch returned with him.

The Warren Grigsby Chapter of the U. D. C. will meet with Mrs. J. W. Alcorn, Tuesday 30th, at 3 P. M.

Mrs. Wm. Hinn and Miss Lizzie Hinn have returned to Louisville, after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. George Hinn at Moreland.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Manning are receiving the congratulations of their many friends upon the arrival of a bouncing baby son in their home.

Miss Mary Tamme and Uncle, Mr. Anthony Tamme spent yesterday and today with relatives near Perryville.

Walter M. Spoonamore attended the London fair.

Miss Elizabeth Jones is visiting Miss Lizzie Lee Martin in Indianapolis, Indiana.

Messrs. Ed. Ross and Frank Yankney, of Springfield, spent Sunday with Mr. F. J. Tamme and family.

Sam M. Spoonamore, of Knoxville, Tenn., is visiting the homefolks at Mr. E. S. Spoonamore and family's.

Miss Charlotte Warren who has been the guest of her cousins, the Misses Warren here, for a week returned to her home at Somerset yesterday.

Mrs. Sam Robinson returned from New York last night to be with Mr. Robinson, who is quite ill.

Misses Kate and Sotie Alcorn and Mary Bruce went to Elkhart Springs yesterday to spend several days.

Mr. George L. Penny is in Louisville this week on a business trip.

A dispatch from Richmond says: Commander Carlo R. Brittain, U. S. N. commanding the United States battleship Massachusetts, who received wireless messages at sea on the 22nd instant that his wife was seriously ill with typhoid fever and complications at Richmond arrived here today. Mrs. Brittain has been a victim of fever for 45 days and her condition has been serious for three weeks. Today a little change, with slight improvements, was reported. Before her marriage to Commander Brittain she was Miss Manile E. Baldwin, of Richmond, a sister of Mrs. W. H. Shanks, of this city.

Mr. J. G. Hackley, who has been visiting his parents, has returned to New York City. Mr. Hackley recently refused a very lucrative position as head of a large manufacturing company of electrical apparatus in Europe, as he prefers to live in this country.

Short Local News.

Bread is the staff of life, therefore have it good by using BALLARD'S OBLISK FLOUR. Every sack guaranteed. T. D. NEWLAND. Exclusive agent.

Lost, ladies' coat on Lancaster pike. Return to this office and receive reward.

For Sale—300 bushels of large onions. Thompson Bros., King's Mountain, Ky. 48-4

A new supply of table ware at the Country Store.

Lost, a pair of gold frame glasses in Stanford, Saturday evening. Return to this office.

A nice line wagon and buggy whips at the Country Store.

A new supply of dollar watches at the Country Store.

For Sale—The house on East Main street known as the Pennington place. Apply to T. W. Pennington.

For Rent—Four room cottage on Harst Street. See J. C. Florence at Post office. 52-2

Lost—Black bear shoot; weight 75 pounds; nip off left ear. Please return to Steve Rice.

Complete line of druggets, rugs and lenolins. W. A. Tribble.

Huff Orphington cockerels for sale. C. C. Withers. 53-4

Lost—Box of Irish crochet left on L. & N. Eastbound train last week. Reward for return to Mrs. W. H. Wearen.

Mothers—have you tried Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea? It's a great blessing to the little ones, keeps away summer troubles. Makes them sleep and grow. 35c, tea or tablets. Saugars and Tanner.

Attention!—My store will be open for the next three weeks and I will have for sale, retail or wholesale, the remainder of my stock of hardware and groceries at and below cost. Now is the time to save some money. G. D. Hopper. 52-2

For sale or rent, my home consisting of four rooms, good porch and all necessary out buildings, 4 acres of land in connection. Mrs. G. A. Hurst, Howland, Ky.

The tax books for 1910 are now ready. Settle now and avoid the rush and confusion of waiting until the last day. W. L. McCarty, Sheriff.

Lost—Card and pass case containing several penna R. R. annual passes for myself and wife besides visiting cards and many other papers. Finder kindly hand same to J. N. Nenefee, Stanford or forward to Williamsport, Pa. Reward. L. E. Carpenter. 53-2

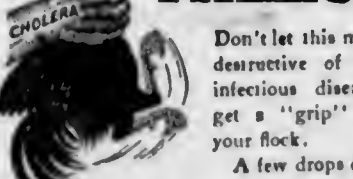

Vernon Singleton, of the Wayneburg section, who is braking on the Q. & C., fell off a freight Sunday morning and broke an arm and severely sprained a leg. He was picked up by the early excursion and taken to Danville to have his injuries treated.

For Rent—A large storeroom on Main and Liberty streets, Hustonville is in first class shape. Apply to J. J. Allen, Hustonville. 53-8

Be sure and take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with you when starting on your trip this summer. It cannot be obtained on board the trains or steamers. Changes of water and climate often cause sudden attacks of diarrhoea, and it is best to be prepared. Sold by Penny's Drug Store.

The last vestige of the old court house is being removed in the left wing, which was left for the use of the officials until the new offices were ready. It was razed last week and the bricks are being taken away.

CHOLERA KILLS

BOURBON POULTRY CURE
Is the drinking water cures and prevents in Cholera, Limberneck, Roup and other existing forms of poultry diseases, and puts fowls in prime condition for egg-laying. One 50c bottle makes 12 gallons of medicine. Every poultry raiser should keep a bottle of this medicine on hand.

Tobacco Savers

I bought and used 20 of the Dixon Tobacco Savers in 1907, and from my experience with them in two seasons, I feel that I can not afford to try to raise tobacco without them. The tobacco can be hauled to the barn as soon as cut and all danger of house burn is eliminated. They economize space; at least one-fourth can be put in the barns. The worms drop off. The tobacco cures much brighter in color and so commands a much higher price.

N. T. ARMSTRONG

President Scott County Warehouse Co. Georgetown, Ky., June 20, 1909.

For Sale By

W. H. HIGGINS,

STOP IN AND SEE IF HE HASN'T SOMETHING YOU WANT

Stanford, Kentucky.

A Healthy, Growing Business

Ours has been for 20 years. Stores have come and gone, but this store remains. We believe the policy of this store is the real cause of its growing prosperity.

Our motto is: "Your Money's Worth." As long as we offer our services to the people this will be our policy. When this policy fails—we fail.

HOLDING GREAT CAMP MEETING

Rev. Charles D. Tillman is meeting with great success at the Jumbo Camp Meeting and the meeting this year promises to be one successful ever held.

State Deputy J. W. Delfart and National Lecturer Rely will speak at Moreland Wednesday night 31st in the interest of the Modern Woodmen. All are invited to attend.

The State's Industrial Show Window

7,000 Entries Last Year. 150,000 In Attendance

SIX BIG DAYS AND NIGHTS THIS YEAR

$30,000 In Premiums

HORSE SHOW AND HIPPO-

DROME AT NIGHT

EIGHTH

ANNUAL

KENTUCKY STATE FAIR 1910
State's Resources Exhibited
DAILY RACES. FIREWORKS
NATIELLO AND HIS BAND
Free Attractions. Up-to-date Midway
HELP US GROW. EXHIBIT—ATTEND—BOOST
WE WILL FURNISH AMUSEMENT, INSTRUCTION, PROFIT
LOW RAILROAD RATES
For further information write J. W. NEWMAN, Secretary, 320 Post Office Bldg.
SEPTEMBER
LOUISVILLE, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17

ECLIPSE SHOES

FOR MEN

-- $3.50 And $4.00. --

We are now receiving our

NEW FALL STYLES

W. E. PERKINS,

CRAB ORCHARD, KENTUCKY

Queen Quality SHOE

Announcement

STYLES better than ever. Factory equipped with new machinery throughout. All methods of manufacturing improved 50%—style in direct proportion—value too. Smart—Stylish and Flexible to the last degree. The new models on display today. You're cordially invited to inspect them.

Cummins & Wearen,

STANFORD, KENTUCKY.

This store is the home of Hart, Schaffner & Marx clothing.

L. R. Hughes T. W. Humble W. O. Martin

NEW FALL GINGHAMS

We have just received very beautiful line of New Fall Gingham. Band trimming and colored Embroidery to match. Also a full line of blue grass Madras in all colors. Call and see them before you buy.

HUGHES, MARTIN & CO.,

Dry Goods, Notions, Shoes,

STANFORD, KENTUCKY

Appalachian Exposition.

Greatest Ever Held in The South.

At Knoxville, Tenn.,
SEPTEMBER 12, TO OCTOBER 12.

Magnificent and mammoth buildings.

More to see and amuse than ever offered at a Southern exposition.

$10,000 in purses for running and trotting races.

$10,000 in aerial exploitation, by machines of Wright Brothers, Stroebel and other aeranauts. "See the air ships."

$5,000 in matchless fire works grand battle of the clouds and Pain's "Fall of Pompeii."

Mutball's famous wild west and 25 other shows of note.

Greatest bands in all America.

ADMISSION TO GROUNDS 50 CENTS IN DAY. AFTER 6 P. M., 25 CENTS.

Remember These Special Dates.

Live stock and races... Sept. 12-1
Night horse show... Sept. 13, 14, 15
Bench Show... Sept. 22, 23, 24
Pigeon and pet stock show... Sept. 27 Oct. 1
Poultry show... Oct. 5-12
Wright Brother's airship days... Sept. 22-29
Stroebel's dirigible balloon. Every day... Sept. 12, Oct. 12
Pain's fire works every evening... Sept. 12, Oct. 12
Battle of the clouds... Sept. 19-24
Fall of Pompeii... Sept. 25, Oct. 1
Special rates every day, and remarkably low railroad rates to Knoxville and return on Tuesday and Thursday as follows:

Stamford $3.50
Moreland $3.75
Jackson City $3.75

See This Great Exposition.

W. J. OLIVER, President.

FARM SALE AT AUCTION!

As administrator of the estate of B. M. Swope, deceased, I will on the premises about 2 1/2 miles west of Bryansville, on the Fisher's Ford road on

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 31, 1910

sell to the highest and best bidder

the following property, to-wit:

The fine Blue Grass farm of 2 1/2 acres located near Bryansville. The place is in a high state of cultivation, well improved, well watered, well fenced and is a farm that has few if any equals in the Blue Grass country. This farm must be sold so that the proceeds can be divided among the heirs. The sale will begin promptly at 10 a. m. Terms will be made known on day of sale. Also at the same time and place the following additional property will be sold at auction:

6 shares of stock in the bank of Bryansville, 10 head of sheep, four steers, 10 milch cows, 2 heifers, one bull, 1 bay mule 1 lot of hogs, 1 bay mare, 1 spotted pony, 1 bay horse, 1 grey mule, 5 calves, 1 five-year-old horse, 1 spring wagon 1 farm wagon, 1 mow, wheat drill, harrows, plows and numerous other farming implements, one rubber tire buggy and harness, one piano, and piano player, household and kitchen furniture and other articles too numerous to mention.

R. K. SWOPE, Adm'r

of B. M. Swope, Deceased.
Col. I. M. Dunn, Auctioneer.

NOTICE

In the district court of the United States for the Eastern District of Kentucky, in the matter of Clarence B. Sipple bankrupt.

Notice of Sale in Bankruptcy.

By virtue of an order entered by J. N. Saunders, referee in the above styled case; I, as trustee of same, will on Saturday, the 3rd day of Sept., A. D., 1910, between the hours of 10 o'clock P. M., on the premises, being 52 acres of farm land, situated in Lincoln county, Ky., on the waters of Green river, adjoining the Denham farm, and lying near the post office of Jumbo, Ky., expose to public sale to the highest and best bidder for cash in hand, the above described tract or parcel of land, together with 25 acres of land adjoining same, now owned by Clarence B. Sipple, the bankrupt above named, and also one-half interest in the growing crop upon said land.

Given under my hand, this the 19th day of August, 1910.

R. A. DYCHE, Trustee

Dysentery is a dangerous disease but can be cured. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has been successfully used in nine epidemics of dysentery. It has never been known to fail. It is equally valuable for children and adults, and was reduced with water and sweetened, it is pleasant to take. Sold by Penney's Drug Store.

MAY RUN FOR GOVERNOR

THOMAS B. MCGREGOR

The popular third assistant Attorney General, whom the republicans are talking of running for governor. In speaking of McGregor and his boom the Frankfort News says: "He possesses remarkable abilities as a level-headed official and as a campaigner. It is pointed out that his record has placed him in a position where he would be acceptable to the tobacco people and to both the temperance and liquor elements of the party, and that he has endeared himself with the school people of the State in fighting for the schools and that all factions of the party could unite upon him and that his nomination would be the solution of the problem that confronts the party at this time. Mr. McGregor has announced his intention of becoming a candidate for Attorney General. The Interior Journal doesn't believe the next governor is going to be a republican but if that party should happen to get in, there is no member of it the I. J., would rather see in the executive chair than Tom McGregor.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Grant Mullins the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Mullins of this place had a very close call for his life last Saturday afternoon. He and a number of other young fellows were practicing base ball at the Jones field, and he was catching without a mask when a "foul tip" hit him just over the eye and crushed the skull. It was thought at first an operation would have to be performed but Dr. Lovell arranged the broken bones so they will grow back without it.—Mt. Vernon Signal.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY DANVILLE BAR

Whereas Judge M. C. Bauley died on August 12, 1910, at his home in Stanford, Kentucky; and whereas the Danville bar has been called to adopt suitable resolutions, touching his life and character;

Therefore be It Resolved

- (1) That in the death of Judge Bauley, the district has lost an able and upright jurist, and the profession one of its brightest ornaments.
- (2) That he was a judge of incorruptible integrity and of marked ability.
- (3) He was an orator of recognized talent and brilliancy, and a true and faithful friend, and bore himself as a man in all the walks of life, both in war and peace.
- (4) The sympathies of this bar are tendered to his family, and a copy of these resolutions will be sent to his widow and spread at large upon the records of the Boyle Circuit Court and published in the newspapers of the district.

Nurse Says:

"I know what is good for young and old people," writes Mrs. Clara Dykstra, a trained nurse of South Bellingham, Wash., "and will say that I consider Cardui the best medicine for girls and women. It makes them feel like new persons, relieves their pain and regulates womanly troubles. "Both my daughter and I received great benefit."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

As a medicine for female trouble, no medicine you can get has the old established reputation, that Cardui has.

Fifty (50) years of success prove that it has stood the greatest of all tests—the test of TIME.

As a tonic for weak women, Cardui is the best, because it is a woman's tonic. Pure, gentle, safe, reliable. Try Cardui.

Good Rings At Brodhead

LINCOLN COUNTY EXHIBITORS COME OUT WELL.

Lincoln county exhibitors fared well at the Brodhead fair last week. The list of awards shows:

Best running walker, Rockcastle county, Allen Hiett, first John Henton second; free for all mule race, P. H. Hurdette, first Dirl Mink second; best combined saddle mare or gelding, Beasley and Kenney of Stanford, first, J. H. Thompson, of Lincoln second.

Best mare mule colt under six months old, C. M. McKinney, first, Joseph Cress; best horse mule colt under six months old C. M. McKinney first, B. W. Gaines second; The splendid colts were sired by A. H. Hamlin's fine jack and a few minutes after they carried off the blues, were sold to Logan Thompson of Garrard for $90 each. Best mule over one and under two years old, Joseph Cress first, John Cress of Lincoln second; best mule over two and under three years old, Thomas first, Skid Bowman, second, best Jack A. H. Hamlin, best boy horseback rider under 15 years of age, Cecil Brown first, Ray Crawford second; prettiest girl baby under 12 months old, Mrs. Anna Cox, first, Mrs. H. H. Hicks, second; prettiest boy baby under 12 months, Mrs. Minnie Saylor, prettiest girl between 3 and 4 years old Mrs. Ella Hayes.

Best mare or gelding over one and under two years, James Smith; best mare or gelding over two and under three years, J. C. Bailey of Crab Orchard, first, R. W. Gaines, of Lincoln, second; best mare or gelding any age, J. P. Chancellor, first J. M. Cress second; best pair mares or geldings, J. B. Wade, first, S. T. Curtis second; best mare or gelding any age, P. Parish, first, R. E. Thompson, second; best double team, Beasley & Kennedy, of Stanford, first, J. H. Thompson second; best running walk, P. Parish, first, R. W. Dunn, second, Elmer Moore, third.

Pacing and trotting race, G. W. Blahon, first; Polly Perkins, second; R. E. Thompson third; running race, Beasley & Kenney first, Elijah Hopkins second.

Best suckling colt any sex under six months old J. M. Lear, first, G. W. Rogers, second; best colt any sex sired by Frank, the splendid stallion belonging to A. H. Hamlin and a special premium by Mr. Hamlin, premium awarded to Geo. W. Pittman; best colt by Silver Dars, a special premium by R. L. Smith, H. C. Jones, first, D. F. Noe second.

BURLEY CROP SMALL

Commissioner of Agriculture Rankin says that from the information he has received from the various counties in the Hurley district, he has come to the conclusion that the white Hurley crop this year will not be more than 65 or 70 per cent of an average crop, if that much.

In a few of the counties that have been favored with rain the tobacco is in a fairly good shape, and if the weather remains warm and the frosts do not come early, a 75 or 80 per cent crop will be had on an average. In a large majority of the counties, however, tobacco has suffered from drouth, and in some of these counties, there will not be a 40 or 50 per cent crop.

Moreland.

Mr. Will Heiden and sister Miss Jennie Heiden, of Louisville passed through Moreland last Sunday on their way to Liberty, where they will visit their grandmother, Mrs. Judge Heiden. They will attend the fair.

Miss Lucile Dinwiddle who has been with her grandmother, Mrs. John Dinwiddle, of Hustonville started for her home in Oklahoma.

Miss Mabel McElhine, of Moreland will start to school in Richmond, Ky about the first of September.

Mr. Pull Hughes, of Millidgeville received news of the death of his daughter in law Mrs. Edward Hughes, of Winchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steel who have been visiting their father, Mr. W. D. Hanson started for their home Colburn, Va., Aug. 23rd. Her sister Miss Mary Hanson returned with her she will attend school in Virginia.

Mr. Cox, wife and two daughters expect to move to Bowling Green in a few months.

Mrs. C. L. Pruitt, of Junction City, spent the day with Mrs. J. H. Pruitt of Moreland, August 23.

If your liver is sluggish and out of tone, and you feel dull, bilious, constipated, take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to night before retiring and you will all right in the morning. Sold by Penney's Drug Store.

Some typewriter advantages which, when investigated, inevitably lead to the selection of the Smith Premier—

- Removable and interchangeable
- Platters
- Reversible Telegraph Rack
- Ball Bearing Carriage
- Complete Control from Keyboard
- Simple Stencil Cutting Device
- Drop Forged Type Base
- Perfect Line Lock
- Diechrom Ribbon, Uniform Touch
- Ball Bearing Type Bar
- Column Finder and Paragrapher
- Decimal Tabulator
- Perfect Erasing Facilities
- Interchangeable Carriages
- Right and Left Carriage Release
- Levers
- Swinging Marginal Rack
- Visible Writing, Protected Ribbon
- Gear Driven Carriages
- Ribbon Controlled from Keyboard
- Variable and Universal Line Spacer
- Perfect Dust Guard
- Back Space Lever
- Carriage Retainer
- Improved Marginal Stops

Escapement, Speediest ever devised

Complete, Straight Line Keyboard and A Key for Every Character.

A single motion is quicker to make than two.

Only one motion is needed to make any character desired on the complete, straight-line, key-for-every-character keyboard of the easy action light running

Model 10

Smith Premier

Write for information to
The Smith Premier Typewriter Co., Inc.
Syracuse, N. Y. Branches everywhere

SPEED

The Island Of Regeneration

(Continued from last Friday.)

CHAPTER XII.

The ship on the horizon. Yesterday morning she had been awakened by an earthquake. To-day it was the call of a voice, his voice. There was none other on the island. It came to her through the open doorway. By turning her head she could see the bright expanse of sand and sea and sky beyond. Yet no figure beckoned the entrance. He stood out of sight, but within hearing, calling her name. She rose to her feet, gathered the tunic about her waist by a clasp of plaited grass, thrust the knife within a rude sheath she had made for it, and stepped out upon the sand. She had an instinct that something unusual had happened, for never before had he ventured to come to the cave and thus awaken her. The change in their relations might have moved him to this extraordinary course, yet she did not believe that it had. She found him in a great state of excitement. As she cleared the entrance he ran toward her waving his hands.

"There is something," he cried, his voice thrilling with new and strange emotions, "on the other side of the island."

"Is it something of enough importance," she said, softly, laying her hand upon his shoulder, "to keep you from kissing me good morning?"

Evidently whatever it was, it was not, she thought for a happy moment, as he swept her to his breast at once. That had been his first instinct, that had been his burning desire the night long, to have her in his arms was his constant thought; but he was new to love's ways, unused to love's customs, and, besides, he had sworn that the advances must come from her. But once the advance was made, the signal was displayed, the permission was given, he more than did his part. Pressing back her head he fed his full upon her lips. No, not that, he could never do that, but he kissed her long, and for a moment forgot what he had to tell. It was she who first remembered.

"And what is it," she asked, "on the other side of the island?"

"I forgot it for the moment," he answered, passionately, "as I forgot everything with you in my arms."

She laughed at this bold assertion. "You love," she said, "as if you had been taught to do it from the beginning."

"The sight of you, your touch, the air that hangs about your person, they have taught me, and I am only beginning now to show you how much I love you."

"If this be the beginning," she laughed, "what will be the end?"

"There is no end," he replied laughing in his turn.

"But you came here to tell me something else."

"When I started from the other side of the island it seemed the greatest thing that I could tell, but since I have seen you—"

"Man, man," she cried, with pleasant impatience, "what is it that you saw?"

"I think it is a ship," he answered, with sudden gravity.

"A ship!" she cried.

She laid her hand upon her heart and sank down upon a near by boulder. If his words were true, what would it mean to them both?

"I have never seen a ship, but there is a dark object yonder," he pointed across the island toward the farther horizon, "too far away for me to distinguish what it is; but smoke rises from it."

"Let us go!"

She rose to her feet and extended her hand. He took it and they began to run. They ran as often as they walked, except in the greater heat of mid-day. Lithe, free-limbed, lightly clad, deep chested and strong, in this emergency they headed straight across the hill instead of taking the longer way around the sands. The distance was not great. There was a sort of rude path which they had made and often traversed, and in a few moments they stood panting a little, for they had been unusually speedy and eager, on the top of the hill.

"There!" cried the man, pointing to seaward.

His eyesight was better than hers, but hers was still sufficiently keen, as she followed his outstretched arm and extended finger, to see upon the far horizon a dark object which was undoubtedly a ship. A hazy column of smoke elongated behind it, and told her it was a steamer.

"You were right," she said at last, a little sob in her voice. "It is a ship. It means rescue. The world is coming to our shores."

"My world is here," he returned, laying his hand upon her shoulder, and for answer she drew closer to him, glad to feel his clasp about her waist.

She had time to think how singularly like the language of convention was the language of nature. It was what any other man who loved would have said, and in the same way.

"Yes," She Said, "It Passes By."

"That ship is passing by," he went on. "When I saw it as I woke this morning, it was there. It goes rapidly."

"Yes," she said, "it passes by."

"I care not," he interrupted. "I don't want anything else or anybody else. Now that I have you, I am content here."

"But we shall summon it and bring it back," she went on, resolutely.

"How?" he asked curiously.

"By lighting the beacon yonder."

"I had forgot that."

"But I did not. Go back to the cave and bring the flint and steel. You will find them in the silver box on the shelf by the Bible, and make haste."

"I will go the quicker," he said, turning to her, "that I may be the sooner back with you."

He turned and bounded away like a young deer. She watched him through the trees, and then sat down upon the summit of the hill and stared toward the ship. She was glad, of course, that they were to be rescued, but as in the joy of their love there was sorrow, so in her gladness there was apprehension. That test of which she had dreamed the night before was now to be complete. She would postpone the telling of her story until he could hear in comment upon it the voice of the world.

They had lived in Eden, Eden without a serpent. They had plucked the tree of knowledge at will and no consequences evil had ensued, yet nevertheless, they must go out into the world now, the world with its pains, its toils and frets, the world with its mockeries and sorrows, and take up the appointed life of men. He loved her now—there could not be any doubt about that—but what would he do when he knew and when he knew that the world knew as well what she had thought, what she had been, and what she had done. Alas, when that ship's boat touched the shores of their island, the angel of the flaming sword would always guard their entrance and prevent their returning to it.

She was a brave woman. She could face the inevitable with courage, with a philosophy which now at last was Christian. She had had three peaceful years and a day of such happiness as falls to the lot of few of the children of sorrow. Perhaps that was all that she was destined to look back upon for joy. Perhaps the future held for her only expiation. Perhaps she ought not to rebel against that possibility. She ought to be glad of such an opportunity, indeed. But she was a woman, and by and by she hid her face in her hands and wept.

In all their intercourse he had never seen her weep. Tears were entirely foreign to his experience. He knew what sorrow was, what sadness was, what sympathy was, for his heart had been torn when she had read to him the story of the Man of Sorrows and his sufferings. A child of nature, the pathetic in the Old Covenant and the New had appealed to him profoundly, but his were not easy tears. He had never shed any. He had never seen any. He was appalled, therefore, when approaching noiselessly he laid his hand upon her shoulder and saw and heard the evidence of her grief.

He dropped the box to the sod and knelt beside her.

"Has the sight of the ship made you weep?" he said, softly. "I wish that I had never come to tell you it was there!"

"We have been so happy together, you and I," said the woman. "This island has been my world, my haven, my heaven, rather, and you have been humanity to me, but now the earth opens before you. You will have other hopes, other ambitions, perhaps—"

"Don't say it," protested the man, vehemently. "I shall have nothing, nothing but you anywhere, everywhere, and, besides, nothing is changed. See, the smoke grows fainter; the ship more dim. She passes beyond. Things shall be as they were! We shall live on, and love on!"

Her desolation, her sorrow appealed to him profoundly. He took her in his arms. He laid her head gently upon his shoulder. There was passion and tenderness as well as compassion in his touch.

"Together," he whispered, patting her hair softly, "alone, you and I!"

For one, delicious moment with closed eyes she let herself be so soothed and comforted. But her better nature woke on the instant, as it were.

"No," she said, drawing away from him gently, "it would not be right. We belong in the world of men. Men and women are not men and women until they have lived among their fellows, until they have fought down the temptations of which we know nothing here, and have conquered them—out there. Give me the flint and steel. I must climb back the ship!"

He stooped as she spoke and picked up the little silver box. He extended his hand toward her, and then suddenly drew it back.

"You cannot light the beacon," he said.

"Cannot!" she cried.

"No, for I will not give you the flint and steel."

"You must give it to me."

"I will not. I am the stronger, and you cannot take it from me," he returned, with growing firmness.

It was the first time in all their intercourse that he had disobeyed a command. She looked at him amazed, her heart, nevertheless throbbing at the mastery in his tone, at the thought that he was willing to throw away the world for her. It is true he had had no experience of that he was giving up, but he was not entirely ignorant of what lay beyond the horizon, and she had presented it in such a way that it glowed with color and life and charm. The evil, the sordid and the wretched had been lightly alluded to, just definitely enough to shade the picture and bring out the higher lights of civilization. His was not the decision, therefore, of an untutored, inexperienced savage, not the abandonment of a toy by a child; there was some reality in it and the reality measured his affection. Her heart leaped in her breast at that thought. For one fleeting moment she acquiesced. Things would go on in the old way. But things could not go on in the old way. For a day and a night, in spite of the great change that had come to their feelings, life had flowed on as usual, but there was a limit to human power. It was better, whatever betide, that they should go back to civilization. The woman stared at him long and earnestly, her lip trembling, her face pale, her eyes shining. They stood speechless at gaze for a moment, and then she spoke.

"You are right," she said, "my power over you has gone. I can no longer command. Mine has ceased to be the supreme will, but I beg you, I entreat you, I pray you, give me the flint and steel. See, on my knees I ask you!"

She sank down before him in an attitude which he knew to be that of prayer. They had often read the sacred Scriptures and had said their prayers together on the sand or beneath the trees since she, too, in the solitude had seen God and believed.

"I cannot, I will not," he answered, hoarsely, stepping nearer to her.

"No," she said, "you must not touch me, you shall not touch me. I shall be to you as a stranger, unless you take me by force, if you will not let me light that beacon."

"No," said the man, doggedly.

"When the world touches our shores it brings you unhappiness. Let it pass."

"Listen!" she said. "I have tried to tell you something about honor and duty. My honor says that that ship must be called. My duty bids me call her. You said that you love me."

"Said!" exclaimed the man.

"You do love me, then," returned the woman, "and I you, but that love must be tested, tried in the world. I can never believe in it. In you, until the trial has been made. We must call back the ship!"

"But I can believe in you without any test."

"I am different. I have been out there. I know what it is. I have seen other men."

She looked fixedly at him. He bent closer to her and laid his hand upon her shoulder, not this time in caress, she winced from the tightness of his grasp, the fierce intensity of his clutch, yet she did not draw away, and he was not conscious of the force he used.

"You have seen other men. They have loved you?"

"Yes," she forced herself to reply.

"And you?"

"I have loved no man but you."

"You had something to tell me. You were to tell me to-day."

"Yes."

"Was it about some other man?"

"Yes."

"What was it?"

"I will tell you when we have gone back where men and women live."

"Why not now?"

"You must hear the voice of the world in comment upon what I say."

"But if we do not go back?"

"There will be a secret between us which I will carry to my grave. It would be fatal to our happiness. You see we must call back the ship. Give me the flint and steel, for God's sake, if you love me, man!"

She had never adored him in that fashion before. He stood irresolute a moment and dropped the box at her feet. She had conquered, conquered by appealing to his love for her. Nothing else, she felt, would have moved him.

Eagerly she opened the silver box and took thence the tiny implements. Fortunately they were in the heart of the dry season. To strike a spark was easy, to communicate it to the tinder-like brushwood was easier still. In a moment, catching the inflammable wood dried out by the tropic sun, the flames roared through the great mass. The cliff or peak at the top of the island made a background for the flame, and soon a pillar of fire 20 or 30 feet high leaped and curled up into the still air of the morning.

The woman beckoned. The two ran around the peak of the rock until they were sheltered from the fierce heat of the fire. From where they stood they could see the ship.

"Do you think," asked the man, "that the people on the ship will see the flame?"

"They cannot fail to see it."

"And how will they regard it?"

"As a signal."

"And what will they do?"

"Turn about and head for the island."

"And how can we tell what they are doing?"

"When the smoke ceases to elongate," she replied, "it will show us that they have turned and are heading this way."

There was no breeze, apparently, and the smoke would follow the wake of the ship. They watched the little speck on the horizon with strained intensity for a few moments.

"How if she passes on?" asked the man, at last.

"I shall take it as a sign," said the woman, slowly, "that—Look!" she cried, in sudden gladness.

The ship had turned and the cloud of smoke now rose straight above her in the still air.

"They have seen the signal," went on the woman. "They will come here. We shall be taken away!"

"It is your fault," said the man, grimly. "I wanted nothing but to be alone with you."

CHAPTER XIII.

The Long Search.

Mr. Valentine Arthur Langford was wearily pacing the quarter deck of his magnificent yacht, the Southern Cross. Mr. Langford was an intensely disappointed and embittered man. He had made two ventures which, by a stretch of language in one case at least, could be called matrimonial, and both of them had resulted in disaster. Death opportunely had relieved him of one wife; the other who had stood in the place of the former without the legal ceremony or the spiritual benediction had vanished under circumstances so mysterious that he had no idea whether she was alive or dead. On a certain night some three years ago he had a dim remembrance that he had behaved like a brute to a woman. His remembrance was only dim as to details. It was entirely clear as to the fact.

What had happened as a result of his conduct he could not clearly state. The next morning the crew had found him lying insensible on the cabin floor with a fractured skull. The woman was gone, also the power boat which had trailed astern of the yacht in the pleasant weather. Such was his physical condition that when he was not unconscious, he was delirious. He had been able to give no coherent account of affairs and equally unable to give any directions as to the future movements of the yacht, which had been bound nowhere in particular upon a pleasure cruise.

The old sailing-master and captain, much distressed by the situation and the emergency in which he found himself suddenly plunged, decided that his best course, in fact, his only course, was to get back to civilization and a doctor as soon as possible. He had instantly put the yacht about and headed for the nearest land where he might hope to get suitable care for his terribly ill young employer. He pushed the yacht to the utmost speed, and in three weeks dropped anchor in Honolulu, just in time to save the young man's life. Indeed, for a long time it was touch and go as to whether his life could be saved at all, and it was not until nearly a year had elapsed before the Southern Cross sailed for San Francisco with a weak and shaky, but convalescent owner, on her quarter deck.

The departure of Katharine Brenton with Valentine Langford had made a great sensation, but it was nothing to the sensation which raged when it became known that Valentine Langford had returned without her. She was a woman of too much importance, she had played too large a part in the affairs of the world, civilization had manifested too much interest in her, to allow her to drop out of its sight without at least making an effort to find her. The position of Mr. Valentine Langford became interestingly difficult in the face of a storm of inquiry. Mr. Langford's previous marriage was, fortunately for him, unknown, but the world had had a complete and adequate idea of the terms of the union which had been entered upon so blithely between Langford and Miss Brenton that the first question that met him when he came back alone was as to which one had been treated had the woman come to her senses, had the man grown tired of her, had they parted, and where was the woman? These were queries which were put to him with the direct simplicity of the American public through its impetuous representatives, the reporters. And to these questions Mr. Langford could return no adequate answer whatever except the truth, which he could not bring himself to tell. He declared that she had left the yacht in the South seas, that he did not know her present whereabouts, and refused to say anything further privately or in public. Miss Brenton had no near relations; what was everybody's business was nobody's, and presently public interest in her declined. She and her philosophy were practically forgotten by all but Langford himself.

Fortune, which had done him some evil turns, here, however, interposed to his advantage. The lady who legally bore his name departed this life and left him a free man. Brute though he had been, Langford was not without some strong idea of honor and decency. Indeed, he had enjoyed long and undisturbed hours of meditation upon his sins of omission and commission during his period of convalescence, and the calm consideration of character and career had done him good. At heart, in spite of his brutal conduct, for which drink had largely been responsible, he was a gentleman, and capable of things fine and high under the stimulus of some really great emotion. He had come to realize, to put it mildly, what an awful fool he had been to any notion of his villainy. What had led him to this realization had been the remembrance of the hours he had passed with Katharine Brenton before the clouds had arisen which had culminated in that awful storm, the recollection of which fairly made him shudder. However, he had deceived her by professed adherence to her wild theories and impossible philosophies, he had honestly loved her, and association with her had been of benefit to him. If he only had not given away to his temper and his appetite! If it had not been for his former obligation!

He had married his wife in a moment of boyish infatuation. The union had been impossible almost from the first. She was little more than an adventuress, much older than he, who had enticed him for his money. There had been no separation on a liberal financial basis, to which the woman had readily, even cheerfully, agreed, and he had no lingering remains of affection to hold him back. Her death was only a relief to him. He felt that he owed reparation to Katharine Brenton, and he was more willing to pay the debt because he was honestly and genuinely in love with her so far as a man of his temperament could be in love with a woman. He wanted to make amends for his treatment. He would have given anything he possessed to have been able to say how ashamed he was of all that he had done, and to beg her to forgive him and marry him.

The death of his father and the necessity for the administration of the vast interests of the bonanza king's estate prevented him from at once engaging upon the search which he promised himself he would make, but he expedited matters, sometimes to his own loss, as rapidly as he could, and after nearly a year's stay in San Francisco, he found himself in position to undertake his quest. For a year thereafter he and the Southern Cross traversed the unexplored, unvisited waters of the South seas. He had landed upon island after island which he had examined with minute particularity. Some he had found inhabited by natives, whom, through interpreters, he had procured, he questioned unavailingly. He ran across stray vessels trading among the islands, and through them with constantly increasing, ever widening mediums, he carried on his search, but without result. In this sweeping the Pacific, he visited everything that was charted, and all that he could find that was not, and was now homeward bound, convinced that the lady who had founded and that he never solve the mystery of her disappearance.

So assiduously had he prosecuted his search that the crew of the Southern Cross, who knew nothing as to the cause of the eagerness, with the exception of the ship master, looked upon him as a harmless visionary. They had been away so long and had visited so many islands with so much hardship, oftentimes with so much danger from uncharted reefs in the unknown seas that they were one and all wildly anxious to return from the to them, aimless wandering. If he had communicated to them at the first his quest, they would have shared his eagerness, but he kept it to himself, as he had kept his own counsel in San Francisco, and he straitly charged his sailing master to say nothing of it.

Consequently the lookout on the fore-topmast cross-tree on a certain summer morning, catching sight of a dim, blue haze on the horizon far off to starboard, made no report of it. What was the use? It would only delay matters and they were within a few weeks of Honolulu now, and another fortnight beyond Hawaii would bring them back to the United States, for which they all longed with the desire of men who had been away from home and confined to the narrow decks of a cruising ship for over a year.

Something—as to whether it was Providence or not he was somewhat doubtful in his mind afterward—brought Langford on deck before his usual time for rising. The watch was in charge of a rather sleepy, stupid second officer, unimaginative and unobservant. He had not noticed the land which it was difficult to see from the deck at any rate, especially as it did not lie between the yacht and the sun, and as it had not been reported from the masthead, he knew nothing of it.

Langford had found sleep impossible. The year of search, the constant disappointment, the pressing sense of mystery, the feeling that his conduct was indeed irreparable had preyed upon him. He was thin, worn, nervous and irritable. He walked up and down the deck in the cool of the morning thinking. For three years practically he had had this woman before his eyes as the goal of his efforts. Now she was gone, and he must concentrate his life upon something else. He gazed languidly and indifferently about the horizon, his unpracticed eye noticing nothing for a time. Suddenly, however, starting off to starboard listlessly during a pause in his steady tramp, he thought he caught a glimpse of light. He looked idly in the direction whence the reflection had come for a few moments and saw it again; a thin cloud of smoke, or was it haze, rose above it. He was puzzled by it, of course, and stood staring. The concentration in his gaze, he thought, discovered to him a cloudy blink in the gray of the dawn which might mean land. He knew there was no land charted in those seas, for he had carefully studied the chart the night before, saying nothing to anyone, for he had become somewhat sensitive about the matter.

He ran down the companion ladder into his cabin and fetched thence a new and powerful glass, which, upon his return to the deck, he focused upon the distant point of light. By the aid of those powerful binoculars he made out what it was. He was a man of quick decision and purpose. He called the officer to him, pointed to the light, and handed the glass to the man in question.

"What do you make of that, Mr. Holtzman?"

The officer took a quick look through the glasses, handed them back to their owner, and said laconically: "Land! Fire! Smoke, sir."

"Head the yacht to that island at once."

"Very good, sir," said the officer, turning to the man at the wheel and ordering the helm to be put about.

The yacht's bows swung slowly round until the island and the light were both dead ahead.

"Now, Mr. Holtzman," said Langford, when the maneuver was completed, "who is at the masthead?"

"I'll see, sir," answered the second officer, stepping forward.

"Bring him to me," said the owner as the officer turned away.

In a few moments the officer came back to the quarterdeck followed by one of the seamen. The man looked very much frightened, for Langford was in a towering passion, and when he was in a passion he was not a pleasant spectacle.

"Did you see that island yonder?" began the owner, fiercely.

"I—er—"

"Answer me!"

"Yes, sir," said the man, desperately.

"You did?"

"Yes, sir."

"Why didn't you report it?"

The man hesitated, shifting from one foot to another, muttered something about a wild goose chase. Carried away by anger, Langford sprang at him, and would have done him bodily violence, had he not been quickly restrained by the second officer.

"Mr. Langford, sir," said Holtzman, grasping him tightly, "recover yourself, sir."

The check was sufficient.

"Go forward!" cried Langford, controlling himself with difficulty. "Mr. Holtzman, send for Capt. Harper."

"Very good, sir," answered the officer.

"And meanwhile you are to keep straight for that island until further orders."

In a few moments the old captain presented himself before the owner. "Harper," began the young man, imperiously, "the lookout this morning, certainly failed to report that land, that island yonder. I am at a loss to understand why he did not do so."

"Very well, sir," said the old sailing master, not daring to remonstrate under such circumstances.

"Do you know that island?" continued Langford.

"No, sir," answered Harper. "I'm not set down in any chart. I have never heard of it before."

"Harper," said the other, laying his hand upon the old man's arm, "it is our last chance. We are passing out of the region of those islands. If she be there, we shall never find her."

"I am afraid not, sir."

(To Be Continued)

Public Sale

Having decided to sell my stallions, jacks, jennetts, etc., will offer for sale at public auction,

Saturday, September 3rd, 1910, at my place 6 1/2 miles from Lancaster and 1 1/2 miles from Buckeye pike, on Poor Ridge pike, at the Buck Carter farm, the following live stock:

One 7-year-old stallion by Dignity Pure, a fine acting animal, 16 1/2 hands high; 1 three year old stallion by Kentucky Peavine; also one two year old stallion by Rex Peavine; 1 seven year old Wilkes bred stallion; 1 five year old jack 16 1/2 hands high; 1 six year old jack 15 1/2 hands high; 1 three year old jack 15 1/2 hands high; a couple of good two year old jacks.

One jennett and jack colt at side; 1 jennett due to foal in September; also three jennetts bred to a big 16 1/2 hands high jack. One extra good three year old saddle mare. One five year old mare and colt; 18 head of sheep.

This stock is all good and sound subject to be registered. Pedigree furnished at sale. Will also sell about 315 acres of unimproved land.

STEPHEN L. WALKER

For information Phone 329—Y, Lancaster, Kentucky.

CUT FLOWERS FOR SALE!

I can furnish this public with the best, as well as the freshest of cut flowers, plants of all kinds, bulbs, potted flowers, on short notice. Also make a specialty of wreaths for funeral purposes.

In connection with the above, I have all kinds of vegetables on hand at reasonable prices.

CHRISTMAN GREEN HOUSES, ED HUBBARD, Prop., S

Quit Business Sale!

Having formed connections with the Tobacco Warehouses in Danville, we will be compelled to give all of our time to that business after September 15th. Until September 1st, we offer every vehicle in our repository at Actual Cost. All unsold Saturday, September 3rd, will be sold at auction. This stock consists of about 60 vehicles—

BUGGIES and PHAETONS

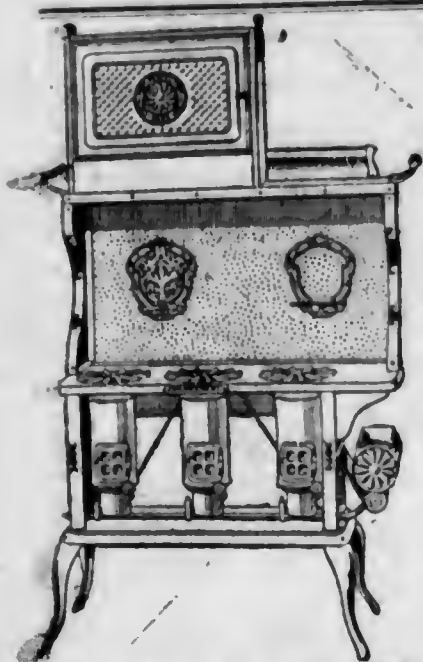

All new, up-to-date styles, bought this Summer. Not a shopworn job in the house. Come early and get the choice.

SURREYS, ROAD WAGONS.

DANVILLE, KY.

H. C. BRIGHT & COMPANY.

DANVILLE, KY.

COOL KITCHEN—

No Heat Except Where Needed!

DISHES HOT—FOOD WELL COOKED—KITCHEN COOL. NO UNDERDUNE FOOD—NO OVERHEATED KITCHEN IN SUMMER. EVERYTHING HOT WHEN WANTED. HEAT UNDER PERFECT CONTROL AND CONCENTRATED.

THE BLUE FLAME IS ALL HEAT—NO SMOKE—NO ODOR NO DIRT—THESE ARE SOME OF THE ADVANTAGES IN USING THE

NEW PERFECTION, WICK BLUE FLAME OIL COOK-STOVE!

Every dealer everywhere; if not yours, write for a Descriptive Circular to the nearest agency of

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY,
(Incorporated.)

Shirts, Collars and Ties,

Biggest Line Ever Brought to Crab Orchard.

L. L. SANDERS,

Crab Orchard, Kentucky.

YOUR CHANCE
For A BARGAIN
This Range For Only
$24.25.

See - - - it
GEO. H. FARRIS.

A LUXURIOUS NECESSITY

In every home is a handsome sanitary appointed bathroom. It adds to the joy and comfort of living. Keeps doctor's bills down too. We are prepared to put one in for you and when you get your figures you won't find them nearly so high as you expect.

W. K. WARNER,

Phone 188.

Stanford, Ky.

CHOOSING A WHIP.

is an easy matter here. We have every style, for every use and at about any price. The only whip you cannot get here is a poor one. We have none of that kind. Our whips are only a sample of our harness and all kinds of horse goods. You'll find the latter just as good as the whips and equally moderate in price.

J. C. McCLARY, Stanford, Ky.

PROFESSIONAL AND BUSINESS CARDS.

MINKS HOTEL
Abe Minka, Moreland, Ky.
Prop. New Hotel Opposite Depot and Stable. Special Rates to Traveling men Everything Brand New. Single Rooms.

R. M. NEWLAND
Representing The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. The leading annual dividend company. Its distinction is due to adherence of successive managements to the principle of mutuality.

W. W. BURGIN,
DENTIST.
Office at Residence.
CRAB ORCHARD, KY.

DR. T. W. PENNINGTON
Dentist
Hours 8:30-12 A.M. and 1 to 4:30 P.M.
Office Myers House, Stanford Ky.

DR. W. N. CRAIG,
Oculist and Optician
Office over H. J. McRobert's Store
Stanford, Ky.

PRESSED STANDING SEAM GALVANIZED ROOFING.
Large Quantities carried in Stock.
EADS' TIN SHOP, Stanford.
Phone 114.

JOHN COOK
Veterinary Surgeon and dentist.
Specialist on all horse and animal diseases.
Stanford, Ky. Phone 194.

WILL ADAMS
Livery; all kinds of hauling, Furniture packing.
Stanford, Ky. Phone 173.

MASON'S MEET.

Lincoln Lodge No. 65, F. & A. M., will meet to stated communication on each first and third Monday nights of each month, at 7:30 o'clock in their hall on main street, Stanford, Ky. Members of sister lodges are fraternally invited to be present. T. W. Pennington Sec.

J. J. BELDEN,
For house, carriage and sign painting decorative paper hanging also buggy trimming of all kinds such as tops, roofed curtains and boots made. Stopover Aldridge's blacksmith shop West Main St., Stanford Ky. Phone No. 675.

J. J. BELDEN.

L & N. TIME TABLE

No. 31, South, 11:30 P. M.
No. 32, North, 10:40 A. M.
No. 33, North, 8:40 A. M.
No. 34, South, 8:40 P. M.
No. 35, North, 10:40 A. M.
No. 36, South, 11:30 P. M.

JOS. S. RICE, Agent.

J. G. Riddle

CRAB ORCHARD, KY.

Buyer of

All kinds of farm produce and am paying today for:
Hens 9 1-2 to 10c
Eggs 17 to 17 1-2c
Springers 11 to 11 1-2c
Roasters 5 to 5 1-2c
Turkeys 12 to 13c
Ducks 7 to 8c
Hides 6 1-2 to 7c
Feathers 15 to 43c
Meat, Flour, Ship Stuff and Chicken Feed for sale or in exchange for Produce.
Phone 20.

SMALL HEMP CROP IN GARRARD.

Garrard hemp crop this year will be only about one-fourth the usual yield because of the fact that the average is only about a fourth of what it was before the farmers turned their attention from the growth of that staple to the extensive cultivation of tobacco. The quality, however, is about up to the average.

The largest crop near Lancaster is a 150-acre tract two miles to the north-east, cultivated by James House on what was formerly the Heasley Bros' farm. One of the finest hemp crops of lower Garrard is that grown by T. Yates Hudson and it has proven to be superior, both in quantity and quality.

Reports from the adjoining county of Boyle also shows quite a reduction in the acreage of hemp, the 1910 crop being about one-fifth of what it was before tobacco became the leading product.

FARMER'S DEPARTMENT.

Fresh row for sale. Apply to Mrs. C. R. Coleman.

Hemp harvester for sale. In good condition. W. A. Tribble.
For Sale.—A well improved farm of 20 acres, near Mt. Salem, house, hold and kitchen furniture, stock, and farming tools. P. H. Woodson, Mt. Salem, Ky. 4923
For Sale.—Black mare 5-year-old, with lilly colt by her side. Sound. Jesse B. Sartain.

Thurston Jones sold 28 head 1,200 pound steers to W. H. Lillard, of Boyle at $5.50 per hundred and twenty Osmund, sold 29 head of 1,400 pound cattle to Mr. Lillard at 6 cents. Mr. Lillard sold Mr. Osmund 28 head of feeders at $4.75 per hundred.
T. F. Durham of Boyle, sold 21 head averaging 1,325 pounds to Cleland Coleman, of Harrodsburg, at $6.25 per hundred.

For Sale.—Sow and 2 pigs, R. L. Berry, Hustonville.

Wanted cattle to graze 70 acres of good blue grass. It. L. Berry, Hustonville.

Ben Bright, of Boyle, sold to Mr. Perk Ingram, his farm known as the "Dick Davis place," on the Lexington pike, two miles from Danville. The place contains 154 acres, and while the price paid is not known, it is thought to be $135 per acre.

Kentucky is a better place than Oklahoma, in the eyes of W. E. O'Bryan, who writes from Oklahoma City to M. C. Rankin, Commissioner of Agriculture, for information regarding the State. He says he is from Kentucky and he wishes he was back in the State now as he thinks it is a better place in which to live. He says in the letter that if Kentucky had a live commercial organization like that of Oklahoma many of the men who are going to Oklahoma from the East would stop in Kentucky instead of going further west. He wants the kind of information that is sent out from Kentucky encouraging immigration. Mr. Rankin will comply with his request and will suggest that he come back to Kentucky. Mr. O'Bryan is only one of several who have left Kentucky to go to Oklahoma who have written to Mr. Rankin that they are sorry they left.

SALE OF LAND

As agent of the heirs of Mrs. Nancy H. Good, I will on the premises, at about 2 34 P. M., on Saturday, Sept. 10th, 1910 offer for sale at public outcry 10 tract of 50 80-100 acres owned by Mrs. Good at the time of her death. The land is about 1-2 mile from Turnersville on the McCormack's church pike is well watered and all in grass. Possession given Jan. 1.

Terms will be announced on day of sale.

J. H. PAXTON, Agent.

COOK FARMS' FIRST ANNUAL SALE.

Friday September 30th, Greatest event of the kind ever held in Kentucky. 50 saddle mares, colts and fillies, 50 Jennets and colts. All registered. Catalogues now ready. Every one of these Jennets should be kept in Kentucky.

J. F. COOK & CO., Lexington, Ky.

H. B. Northcott.

LANCASTER, KY.

BUYER OF

All Kinds of Farm Produce

Stanford Branch—T. K. Tudor, Mgr.

WE ARE PAYING TODAY FOR:

Hens 9-10c

Eggs 15-16c

Springers 10-11c

Turkeys 12-13c

Ducks, per lb. 7-8c

Roosters, per lb. 5-5 1/2c

Hides per lb. 15-40c

Feathers 15-40c

Ginseng, per lb. $5.00

Yellow Root, per lb. $1-$1.25

LIME AND SALT FOR SALE OR IN EXCHANGE FOR PRODUCE.

We can please you. Phone 153

AT COST!

Clearance Sale On Clothing, Oxfords, Straw Hats, Odd Pants.

SUITS	HATS
$25 Suits at $16.98	$3.20 Hats at $2.68
$22.50 Suits at $15.98	$3 Hats at $2.28
$20 Suits at $13.98	$2.50 Hats at $1.79
$18 Suits at $11.98	$2 Hats at $1.48
$15 Suits at $9.98	$1.50 Hats at $1.19
$12.50 Suits at $8.98	$1 Hats at $.79
$10 Suits at $6.98
$8 Suits at $4.98
OXFORDS	ODD PANTS
$4 Oxfords at $3.29	$7 Pants at $3.48
$3.50 Oxfords at $2.79	$6 Pants at $4.48
$3.00 Oxfords at $2.29	$5 Pants at $1.88
$2.50 Oxfords at $1.98	$4 Pants at $2.98
$2.00 Oxfords at $1.68	$3.50 Pants at $2.68
	$3 Pants at $2.29
	$2.50 Pants at $1.98

SAM ROBINSON,
Stanford, Ky.

MULE COLTS WANTED!

I will be at J. H. Baughman's sale on WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 7TH,

To Buy
100 Mule Colts.
Joe Kindig, York, Pa.

I will be glad for any of my friends who have mule colts to sell, to bring them.
J. H. Baughman.

STIRRING TIMES.

We are having in the building line. We carry a full line, of lime, plaster, cement and everything else needed for building. Everything purchased here will be found of the best quality and the best for intended purposes. We will save you trouble and unnecessary expense by sending to us for an estimate.

J. A. ALLEN, Stanford, Ky.

B. D. CARTER,

New Livery.

Depot Street,

Phone 96,

STANFORD, KENTUCKY.

How's This?

We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.
We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.
WALSH, KINNEY & MARVIN,
Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O.
Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 50 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.
Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

FINE FARM FOR SALE

Located on the Stanford and Ottenheim pike containing 138 1-2 acres well watered, one hundred acres in grass 50 acres for wheat. This land produces fine tobacco, corn and wheat. A fine young orchard of one hundred bearing fruit trees, a modern new six room house, cistern at door, cellar and all necessary outbuildings; two tenant houses, large barn, new silo; free mail delivery, three hundred yards to school, 1 1-2 miles to union church. Will make terms easy. W. E. Dishon, Stanford, Ky. Box 41 Phone 5 ring 2.

Notice

For the next 20 days we will sell our tobacco hogheads at mill as $1.10 each. We also have some fine white and brown leghorn cockerels for sale. Kings Mountain Planting Mill, Kings Mountain, Ky.

J. C. McClary,

Undertaker and Embalmer

STANFORD, KY.

Office Phone 7. Home Phone 14.